Australian Pulse Conference

Horsham, Victoria 15 - 17 October 2019

Pulses are an important Australian industry with production quadrupling over the past 10 years. Exploring Taste and Technology, the three-day Australian Pulse Conference will highlight the growing range of technologies driving research, production and trade to increase pulse production and productivity; and examine the growing role pulses are playing in nutrition and the possibilities for their increased inclusion in Western diets.

The Conference will commence with a field day and industry tours followed by two symposia days focusing on research and production/industry presentations. International keynote speakers are being selected to focus on key aspects of pulse research and development of significance to the Australian industry.

Welcome from the Chair - Conference Organising Committee

It is my great pleasure to invite you to the 3rd Australian Pulse Conference (APC). The APC brings together the Australian pulse industry to discover and discuss recent achievements and advances in pulse research and development.

My well credentialed and enthusiastic organising committee are working hard to deliver an excellent Conference and we welcome the support and participation of the entire pulse industry to create a great Australian Pulse Conference in Horsham Victoria, 15-17 October 2019.

The APC will begin with a unique field day in association with the Southern Pulse Agronomy Program. The field day is open to both Conference delegates and the local pulse industry. The field day provides an opportunity to examine Australian research aimed at increasing pulse productivity and reliability through improved varieties and agronomic practices. After a BBQ lunch, there will be four options including the Grains Innovation Park Research Precinct and/or a range of local seed production and food packaging companies. The Conference mixer at the picturesque Barangaroo Winery will conclude day one. A two-day Conference program will then commence examining "innovation leading transformational change" across research, production and processing through a range of aspiring themes including:

- Pushing pulse yield boundaries
- Accessing new markets
- Value adding pulses
- Expanding pulse production
- Smart farms and remote sensing

The Conference Dinner will be held on 16 October at the Horsham Town Hall and will feature an entertaining and informative speaker.

Please join us on what will be an exciting journey into pulse research and development - linking cutting edge technological research to improved profitability for growers and providing healthy options for human consumption - Taste and Technology.
